Post-Independence, the financial needs of the growing Indian economy prompted the shift towards equity markets. In 1922, SEBI was established as a regulatory organization to ensure market integrity. In 1995, BSE and NSE developed the online platforms and all the other regional exchange register under this both exchanges. This online platform provides transparency to the investors. The electronic method to record the transaction NSDL and CDSL are used. Even though online platforms are there, the transactions were happening between two members.
